The Future Insurance: Shape New Avenues for Growth

Prof Dr Peter Maas

Professor of Management at University of St. Gallen,
Supervisory Board Member wefox
Insurance, Learning Coach

The foundations of society and economy have been shaken in the last two years by the corona virus and by the current Ukraine War. Both has changed the values of our human habitat and society – these will be decisive for future economic success and especially as well as the insurance industry.

The demand for sustainability, new emerging risks, as well as the acceleration of the digital economy, are challenging traditional insurance business models.

The key success factors for the future are the redefinition of insurance business in a more connected world and the adaptation of consumer driven business models. The strengths of today's insurance system must be collaboratively networked with eco-systems and the use of new technologies.

A business-relevant example is presented to you with «Greater Than AB» a globally unique pattern-based AI provides insurers, mobility providers and fleets with real-time risk and CO₂ insights for smarter, more profitable business decisions.

Digital business transformation leadership is more in demand than ever in the insurance industry. New strategies and the further improvement of products and services to maintain attractive margins are essential and the winners will be those who actively engage in the business transformation with open innovation and using the «Networked Economy» of the future.

The conference will provide you with answers and impulses for the challenges in your companies and will once again address and discuss fundamental issues at the highest level. The participants are Senior Executives who have been personally invited.

InsuranceCom CE-Central Europe – the platform where Senior decision-makers of the Swiss and Central Europe Insurance industry meet and exchange their experiences.
