Insurance CEE 2027 – Digital Empowerment and New Value Propositions

Prof. Dr. Peter Maas
Conference Moderation
Member of the Executive Board,
Insurance Institute University
St. Gallen, Switzerland

“Industry experts and insiders were often wrong in predicting the future”. Despite past experience, however, one must not be tempted to completely ignore the future of one’s own business. 2027 – are you ready to jump this far ahead and imagine what the insurance business will be like then? Today, digital technologies are already transforming markets. Insurance customers are actively taking advantage of new options for using services, shaping them and finding new ways to access providers. There is growing pressure on the insurance industry to rethink its business models. How does the insurance business itself view its future? InsurTechs takes a bold, active approach to pushing the industry ahead and believes in acting swiftly while being prepared for the risks along the way. It promises to make the lives of its customers easier. Key strategic questions are raised in this respect: How do leading InsurTech companies view “Insurance” and how will they revolutionise the value creation of the industry? Which trends are relevant and which ones are overestimated? What skills are needed for a start-up to succeed and what role will traditional insurers play in the future?

The InsuranceCom CEE Conference on October 9/10, 2017 in Vienna will feature this spectrum of strategic questions and topics. In times of change and transformation, the exchange of experiences and opinions is indispensable. The InsuranceCom CEE community is composed of individually selected senior executives and CEE insurance experts. They will present and discuss challenging theses and arising industry trends. Come and participate in this exchange and be part of this exclusive InsuranceCom community.

InsuranceCom – the platform where Senior decision-makers of the European Insurance industry meet and exchange their experiences.
